

TRAFFIC SERVICE BUREAU, INC.

Freight Bill
Post-Audit Services

*Because every

No matter what you ship, how you ship, or where you ship...

It's very likely that overcharges are increasing your transportation costs. Since 1920, Traffic Service Bureau has been a recognized leader in freight bill post-auditing, helping companies large and small to recover over $80,000,000 in transportation overcharges.

The most expensive cost of manufacturing products, next to materials and labor, is shipping them. And with the wide range of transportation services available, along with the effects of deregulation on the shipping industry, overcharges are inevitable.

Finding those overcharges and ensuring that our clients receive proper refunds has helped Traffic Service Bureau, Inc. grow and prosper along with our clients, fulfilling our role as an important partner in their transportation departments.

There are many ways you can incur excessive transportation costs.

And they can vary by industry, modes of traffic, rate programs, packing, billing, accounting and shipping procedures.

Some overcharges may result from your own errors, others are due to carrier error. Even with today's sophisticated, computerized systems, mistakes happen. They can be as simple as transcribing a weight incorrectly or as complex as applying improper rail carrier cost recovery tariff increases. And even the best carriers make mistakes.

Which is why we check - and double check - everything.

Not only for rate errors, but also extension, routing, classification, and demurrage - if a mistake was made, we'll find it.

Traffic Service Bureau can perform a freight bill audit for your company that is efficient, comprehensive and remunerative. We believe that the best way to audit freight bills is the way we've done it for many years - by patiently searching through each and every contract or tariff to arrive at the lowest possible rate, consistent with transportation law and then comparing it with your freight bill. It's still the only way to do a first-rate audit.

We'll help you save on transportation costs you've already paid...

As well as on those you haven't even incurred yet. Our clients find that awareness of past errors often diminishes the chances of their occurring again in the future.

And that knowledge alone can often justify a comprehensive TSB audit of your shipping and freight costs. Our expertise includes truck, rail, steamship, airline, intermodal, contract carrier, air freight forwarder, TOFC, NVOCC and, of course, international.

Our client list includes over 300 companies, from small manufacturers to Fortune 500 firms – all with one thing in common: they rely on TSB to help them reduce the high cost of transportation.

Our extensive freight bill audit won't cost you a penny –

But it just may result in significant cost savings for your business. The only thing you will ever receive is a refund – there is absolutely no charge for TSB post-audit services.

Traffic Service Bureau does not charge a retainer fee or service charges for an audit. We work strictly on a contingency basis, and recovered charges are normally shared 50/50 with our clients. In the unlikely event that we are unsuccessful in recovering money for you, our service is free of charge. It is likely that your only expense will be sending your freight bills to TSB.
